Today's Gospel

In today's Gospel we read about how Jesus overturned the tables of the merchants and the moneychangers in the temple at Jerusalem. Jesus' action at the temple in Jerusalem is recorded in all four Gospels and is often understood to be among the events that led to Jesus' arrest and Crucifixion. We must read the Gospel of John carefully, especially in its presentation of Jesus' relationship to Judaism. The Gospel of John tends to reflect greater tension and animosity between Jesus and the Jewish authorities than the Synoptic Gospels. The Gospel of John was the last of the four Gospels to be written, and its narrative reflects the growing divide between the Jewish community and the early Christian community. Thus, greater emphasis on the distinction between Christianity and Judaism is found in John's Gospel.

After clearing the Temple of the merchants and the moneychangers, John's Gospel tells us that the people asked for a sign of Jesus' authority to do such an audacious act. In response, Jesus predicted his death and Resurrection. Throughout John's Gospel, the language of signs is distinctive. Jesus' miracles are called signs, and the people look to these signs for proof of his authority. Here we learn that the sign par excellence will be Jesus' passion, death, and resurrection.

During Lent we reflect upon the meaning of this sign for us and for our world. We might take this opportunity to consider the quality of our prayer and worship. In our prayers we seek to deepen our relationship with the person of Christ. In our worship with the community, we gather to experience anew the passion, death, and resurrection of Jesus and its significance in our lives.

Children's Liturgy

As discussed at the parish forum in September last year, we are going to be starting a children's liturgy group within the parish. The Ignite Team, the diocesan youth mission team, will be attending St Mary Magdalens on Sunday 11th March. The 10:00 Mass will be led by Fr Luke Goymour with the team providing music for the Mass and some information about its work around the diocese. After Mass, the team will spend about an hour with the individuals who volunteered to be involved, to provide advice on delivering Children's Liturgy and guidance on suggested resources. If you have not already put your name forward, but would like to be involved in this, please speak to Fr Mathew.
